Please note

Car navigation systems don't tend to find us correctly - the one-way system in central Newbury causes them problems!

Plus the attached map is wrong – Oddfellows Road does link into West Mills.

Please use the following instructions and the attached map.

Coming Via Train

If coming via train you should take alight at Newbury Station. If coming from London cross over the footbridge to the North platform and exit into the car park. With the station behind you, you will see to your left across the car park a path and steps towards a tall building. Take this path and walk up past the building until you come to a 'T' junction with a mini roundabout (Market Street). Cross over the road and walk to the left towards the traffic lights, turning right into the main shopping street (Bartholomew Street). Keep on the left hand side of the road and follow the road around until you get to Snappy Snaps. Turn left down the alley way by the church and at the end bare left, continue past the IBS office building. At the road junction look straight ahead we are in the old building on the far side of the road on the corner. The entrance is via a single blue door.
